Request:

I am trying to track down as current as possible, specific data on the number of children registered as disabled in the North Tyneside area.

I would also like to know how these numbers compare to the national average.

Response:

I am trying to track down as current as possible, specific data on the number of children registered as disabled in the North Tyneside area.

I would also like to know how these numbers compare to the national average.

There are currently 124 children registered on the North Tyneside Register of Children with a Disability. Families choose to register on this and so this figure is based on self-reporting and will not include all children in North Tyneside with a Disability.

Information not held on the National average.
